WILD ACCLAIM GREET ACTION OF COMMONS

COMMONS PASSES HOME RULE BILL

Irish and Others of the Coalition Give Vent to Their Joy.

GOVERNMENT'S MAJORITY 110

Leader of the Opposition Predicts
That Ulster County Will Rebel
Against the New Irish Parliament, While Chief Secretary Birrell Ridic-
cles the Prophecy—Measure Dispatched to the House of Lords.

London, Jan. 17. — Amid scenes of joy by the Irish Nationalists, which were shared by the other members of the government coalition, the home rule bill passed its third reading and the final stage in the house of commons by a majority of 110 and was sent immediately to the house of lords. It was the climax of a debate which lasted for 52 days. Every possible vote had been whipped in and the house was crowded.

Bonar Law, the leader of the opposition, and Augustine Birrell, the chief secretary for Ireland, were the principals in the final encounter. The Unionist leader, who, admitting that he had nothing new to say, reiterated his deliberate conviction that no rebellion would be better justified than by Ulster against the new Irish parliament. He said he knew that Ulster would rebel and she was bound to succeed, because the Ulstermen were ready to give their lives for the cause.

CONSUL REPORTS ON "CURE"

Friedmann's Tuberculosis Treatment
Not Sufficiently Tested.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The report of Consul General Trackara of Berlin
on the new tuberculosis treatment discovered by Dr. F. F. Friedmann was transmitted to the senate by President Taft in response to the Gore resolution that all haste be made in getting the cure to America.

According to the report, Dr. Fried-mann does not know when the treatment can be supplied generally to the world, since the present facilities for the serum's manufacture are very limited. The report carries a warning note for physicians and tuberculosis sufferers not to place too definite hope in the discovery as yet.

Trackara reports that Dr. Fried-mann has treated 1,118 patients up to Nov. 18 with the serum, mostly children and generally successfully.
Nevertheless Berlin physicians are quoted in statements that the serum
has not yet been given a sufficient test to guarantee its effects.

AND YOU, WOODROW, MAKE SUCH SUGGESTION WOULD ELIMINATE INAUGURAL BALL

President-Elect Wilson Calls Attention to the Cost.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 17.—President-elect Wilson wrote a letter to William C. Eustice, chairman of the inaugural committee, asking him to consider the matter of eliminating the inaugural ball as one of the features on March 4.

It has been called to Governor Wilson's attention that during the period of preparation for this function those employed in the pension building, where the ball is usually held, have to lay aside their labors, and that the consequent indirect cost to the government is enormous, some estimates running as high as $85,000. It has even been suggested that a building be erected for the purpose of holding the ball.

The governor in his letter says he makes the request after taking counsel with a great many persons, and expresses the hope that his action
will not bring embarrassment to Mr.
Eustice.

PROGRESSIVE LEGISLATION BEING PUSHED

WISE LEADER HAS A SCHEME

LET MONOPOLY FALL
OF ITS OWN WEIGHT

Financier Schiff's Suggestion to the Pujo Committee.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Jacob H.
Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Company expressed some rather remarkable views before the Pujo investigating committee of the house. One of these was that he would leave monopolies
to fall of their own weights. Mr.
Schiff would legislate against the holding company, but so far as the individual is concerned he would not limit his freedom by a jot. He would leave the law of nature to deal with individual action, and this he contended would be a much better system than any law that man can devise.

Like J. P. Morgan and George F.
Baker, Mr. Schiff believes that the individual and his integrity are the big elements in the banking business of the country. Mr. Schiff favored the widest latitude to the individual judgment and prudence of bank directors.
No institution managed in an imprudent manner would long survive, and this fact alone would operate, he contended, to prevent any abuse of power
even under the recently developed system of concentrated banking resources.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago, one of the largest financial institutions of the country, was the only other witness.
He acknowledged that the present
concentration of banking resources and credit constitutes a real menace
to the country.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Greenville Attorney, Charged With Grafting, Appears in Court.

Greenville, O., Jan. 17.—Edwin C.
Wright, an attorney, was taken into court to answer to five indictments, each containing two counts, charging connection with the graft in Darke county. The specific charge in each indictment is "presenting false and fraudulent bills and claims against the county and receiving payment thereon out of county funds." The sum involved is said to be $1,529.33.

Wright is a member of the Republican state central committee and was but recently elected to the position of grand warden by the Ohio lodge of Odd Fellows, and is at present serving as city solicitor of the city.
Wright was arraigned on all indictments and pleaded not guilty.

FOR PENSIONS FOR MOTHERS

Bills Appear In Each Branch of the Legislature.

HAVE BACKING OF THE GOVERNOR

Senate by Practically Unanimous Vote Passes the Administration's Anti-Lobby Measure, Which Is Delayed
In House—Short Ballot and Election Reform Propositions Introduced—Legislative Proceedings.

Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Much surprise was occasioned when members of the general assembly realized there had been introduced in both branches
a bill providing for mothers' pensions. The bill was embodied in a children's code which has the backing of both the retiring and present governors. The code was read by only a few members.

The mothers' pension bill provides that the juvenile court shall pay a widow or a wife whose husband is incapable of work or is a prisoner, a maximum of $15 a month for one child and $7 a month for each additional child less than 14 years old,
the fund to be raised by one-tenth of a mill tax. Though one of the most radical and novel proposals made to any legislature, the measure has been drawn with extreme care to restrict the pension allowances to cases where the court deems it necessary to prevent breaking up a home and with the idea uppermost of saving the children.

At the request of Governor Cox the state board of administration and attorney general's department began drafting a bill to remedy conditions in state institutions. As outlined by Allen W. Thurman, president of the board, four important objects are sought: Life sentence in the pen of all convicts found by competent authorities to be confirmed criminals;
sterilization, under direction of the state board of administration, of all defective inmates of state institutions, particularly feeble-minded and imbeciles; establishment in Columbus
of a "research cottage," where alienists will examine all persons committed by juvenile and probate courts to state institutions, and recommend to what institution they shall be sent for treatment or correction; compelling juvenile and probate courts to commit all persons directly to the state board of administration, instead of state institutions, the board then to determine, after conferring with the "research cottage" experts, where they shall be sent.

Short Ballot and Election Reforms.

A bill providing for the short ballot is fathered by Representative Young of Cuyahoga county. Under its provisions only the governor and lieutenant governor are to be elected, all other state officers to be appointed by the governor. Among the provisions of an elections reform bill being drafted by John R. Cassidy, clerk of the house, are the separation of state and national tickets, etc.; election of municipal officers on nonpartisan ballots, and holding of municipal elections on Saturday. Another bill provides for the election of senators and representatives in populous counties by legislative districts. Under this plan an elector would vote only on a candidate for governor, lieutenant governor, one state senator and one state representative.

The senate adjourned until Monday unexpectedly. This defeated Governor Cox's wish that five-day-a-week sessions be held. The adjournment also prevented Cox's anti-lobby bill getting through this week. The senate passed it by practically a unanimous vote. The house took no action upon it.

LIBELED KING GEORGE

English Journalist Refused Entry
Into the United States.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Edward P.
Mylius, the journalist, who was convicted in London of libeling King George, for which he paid a penalty of 10 months in prison, was ordered turned away from the gates of the United States by Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, as an undesirable immigrant within the meaning of the American Immigration laws. The case will be appealed.

The cabinet official held that My-lius' offense was a crime involving moral turpitude, which barred his admission to the shores of this country.
He denied the contention that it was a purely political crime, excepted by the statutes.

The alleged libelous story, published in the Paris Liberator, and for the distribution of which in England My-lius was convicted, charged that George V, when a prince, contracted a morganatic marriage in 1894 with the daughter of Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, an admiral of the British navy, now the wife of Captain Tre-velyan Napier.

New York, Jan. 17.—It was a dream,

ard, a truck driver, in police court
on a charge of attacking his wife,
Nellie, in their home in Williamsburg.
Mrs. Leonard was found senseless on the floor of the kitchen, so badly beaten and kicked on the head and body that she was hurried to the hospital, where she is said to be in a serious condition. Mrs. Leonard says that she was awakened by her husband attempting to choke her and that when she resisted he dragged her from the bed and pummeled and kicked her. Leonard said he had been dreaming of burglars.

Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.

THE first parcel post package mailed from the New York postoffice at midnight as 1913 began was addressed to Mrs. William Sulzer, wife of the new governor of New York state. She received it several hours later at the executive mansion in Albany, N. Y., shortly before Mr.
Sulzer was sworn into office. Our picture shows the postman delivering the package to Mrs. Sulzer at the entrance of her new home. The gift was a New Year's remembrance from Miss Sophie Irene Loeb of New York and was the

TOP OF NEW WALL FALLS TO SIDEWALK

Rain Causes Copping of Front Wall on Hunt Block to Collapse, and Two Tons of the Brick Crash to Sidewalk Where Workmen Had Been Short Time Previous.

With a resounding crash the coping and part of the front wall of the new Hunt block crashed to the sidewalk between four and five o'clock Thursday evening, but luckily no one was on the sidewalk at the time, and the two tons of brick, stone and mortar did little damage.

The last few feet of the wall and the coping had been laid during the wet weather, and it is supposed that the rain kept the mortar damp with the result that some three or four feet of the handsomely finished front wall gave way under the weight, falling outward.

Only a few minutes before workmen had been directly under the wall, and if the mass of brick and stone had fallen upon them from the top of the wall, death would certainly have been almost instantaneous.

As soon as the weather will permit the wall will be replaced, and possibly some changes made in its construction, so that it will be more substantial.

Car Derailed In Local Yards

A freight car on the D. T. & I. left the rails in the local yards near the ice factory Thursday afternoon, but the train crew succeeded in replacing the car inside of 30 minutes.

What caused the car to leave the rails is not known, unless it was bad track.

Quartet Fined For Threatening

Samuel Lochard, David Brown, Frank Smith and Trumper Fosnaugh, residing a few miles from Waterloo, in Pickaway county, were arrested and taken before Mayor Timmons of Williamsport a few days ago, charged with threatening violence to Fred Kinch, a farm laborer of the neighborhood.

Each of the young men entered a plea of guilty and was fined $5 and the costs, or a total of $27. Mayor Timmons also gave them a workhouse sentence of 30 days, but the sentence was suspended pending their good behavior.

Come Again With Regulars

Regarding the basket ball game at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night, when the association team defeated the Jamestown team, the Green County Journal says:

The Jamestown Athletics played at Washington C. H. Tuesday night and were defeated by the team of that city by a score of 52 to 19. However, some of the stars of the local aggregation were not in the line-up and a patched-up team was pitted against the seasoned five of Washington C. H., with the result that the locals were outclassed at every stage of the contest.

Lady Phillips won six consecutive races over half-mile tracks last season, being driven in all the races by Mr. Vallery.

Her new owner intends campaigning her on the Grand Circuit the coming season.

Mr. Vallery owns a number of exceptionally good horses, and is recognized as one of the foremost horsemen in central Ohio.

Other Agents On the Job

G. C. Whaley of near Mt. Tabor, was stopped by an agent of the Humane society near the head of Paint street, on Wednesday afternoon. Whaley had a team harnessed to a wagon heavily overloaded with ties.

"I have a living to make," said Whaley, to the agent when reprimanded about the matter. "At the expense of killing your horses?" queried the agent. One of the horses was quivering with exhaustion. The agent did not arrest the man on his promise to rectify the matter and never be guilty of the same offense. —Chillicothe Advertiser.

Roberts Held To Grand Jury

W. A. Roberts, one of the colored men who confessed to robbing the Dice-Mark store, was arraigned before Mayor Smith Thursday evening and upon his plea of guilty to the charge, was bound over to the grand jury under $500 bond.

Failing to give the bond he was again locked up in the county jail to await further action. The charges under which he was bound over are burglary and larceny, and a term in the penitentiary faces the man.

SABINA GIANTS WIN OVER Y. M. C. A. TEAM

Defeat Laid to Cramped Room and Smooth Floor, Error in Keeping Score, Weight of Opponents and Foot Ball Methods Injected Into Game By Sabina.

The Y. M. C. A. Basketball team was beaten by the Sabina team on a 24 to 23 score Thursday night, in the roughest game in which the local team has played.

The room in which the game was played was a mere coop beside the splendid local floor, and the floor was smooth as glass, while the Sabina team outweighed the local team 45 pounds to the man, and Peterson's opponent outweighed him by 60 lbs. Considering the many handicaps, Washington played an exceptionally good game, and had the score been counted properly and the game confined to the proper time, Washington would have been ahead.

Taylor, Washington's center, never permitted his opponent to touch the ball. Each member of the team did tip-top work as far as possible, the Sabina official permitting the Sabina team to ride over the local boys in a very rough manner. It was really a game of indoor football so far as Sabina was concerned.

Regardless of tactics used and the great size of the Sabina team, Washington had them all in at the finish.

Considerable hostility was shown by the crowd. A return game will be played on the local floor soon, and Washington will then show the Sabina boys how the game is played under fair and favorable surroundings.

BRONCHITIS SUFFERER.

Takes Druggists' Advice With Splendid Result.

If any one should know the worth of a medicine, it is the retail druggist who sells it over his counter every day in the week, and is in a position to know what remedy gives the best satisfaction.

Mrs. Frank H. Uline of West Sand Lake, N. Y., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from bronchitis. Last July I had an attack which was more severe than any and my friends thought I could not recover from it. Then I was advised by my druggist to try Vinol, which I did with wonderful results. My cough has left me; I have gained in weight and appetite and I am as strong as ever I was. I advise all who have bronchitis, chronic coughs, or who are run-down to try Vinol."

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron that makes Vinol so efficient in such cases.

Remember, we guarantee Vinol to do just what we say—we pay back your money if it does not. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

Plumber Sues For $1064.78

David W. Schneider, plumber, Thursday brought suit in Common Pleas court against George L. Fenzel, the contractor who erected the Cherry Hill school building, and asks judgment in the sum of $1,064.78, which amount he claims is due him for plumbing, gas fitting and electric wiring on the Cherry Hill school building.

The plaintiff states that he agreed to do the plumbing, gas fitting and electric wiring in the building for the sum of $1,485, settlement to be made when the defendant received payment for erecting the building, and that the only amount paid him was $200 on November 20, 1911, and $400 on Jan. 24, 1912, and that on the original contract the sum of $885 is due the plaintiff.

In a second cause for action the plaintiff states that at the request of the defendant a number of alterations were made in the work, and that the plaintiff agreed to pay him a reasonable sum for the extra work. Plaintiff alleges that there is due him for the extra work the sum of $179.78 or a total of $1,064.78 on the entire job, for which sum he asks judgment.

H. H. Sanderson and John Logan represent the plaintiff.

J. B. McCoy Loses Wife

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McCoy, wife of Josiah B. McCoy, one of the best-known residents of East Orange, died today at her home, 91 Harrison street, of pleurisy and pneumonia. Mrs. McCoy's death was unexpected, as she had enjoyed excellent health until fatally stricken a few days ago, and her death was a shock to her relatives and many friends in the Oranges.

She was 68 years old, and was a member of the Munn Avenue Presbyterian church, East Orange. Arrangements for the funeral will await a reply to the telegram sent Miss Anna McCoy and William Milton McCoy, two of her children now in Wyoming and who are hurrying home for the funeral service. Another daughter, Miss Margaret McCoy, who is in Berlin, was also notified by cable of her parent's sudden death.

Mrs. McCoy, who was born in New York, was a daughter of the late John H. Cassidy, of Orange. John C. Cassidy, of East Orange, is her brother. Children surviving also include Dr. J. C. McCoy, Edward A. McCoy, Mrs. Alexander Fordyce, Jr., and Miss Helen McCoy.—Newark (N. J.) Evening Star, Monday, 13th.

Mr. McCoy was formerly a resident of this city and has a number of warm friends among the older residents of Washington, who will learn of his loss with deep regret.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McCoy have visited connections here and Mr. McCoy was a guest at the home of Mrs. G. M. Ustick last year, his wife and daughter being abroad at the time.

Farmers Are Holding Corn For an Advance

Estimated That 80 Per Cent of Crop Has Been Husked, But a Large Amount Remains in Cribbs Until Price Advances. Present Price 42c, While Last Year at This Time it Was 55c.

Fayette farmers have harvested most of the corn crop, and it has either been disposed of or is now reposing in rail pens or more substantial cribs awaiting such time as Mr. Farmer feels disposed to market his crop.

The fall and winter have both been unusually good for husking the corn crop, and the majority of the farmers have had their crop safely cribbed or marketed for some time, although quite a number still have some corn to husk. One dealer estimates the amount of corn husked at fully 80 per cent. of the entire crop. Within a radius of 5 to 10 miles of Washington the most of the corn has been disposed of, as part of it was husked early, and being too green to sell at elevators which had no drying equipment, was sold where it could be cured before shipment. Later when the corn had cured on the stock or in the shock, the easy means of marketing it caused the nearby residents to haul it to the elevators immediately.

At the present time the price paid for yellow corn is 42c per bushel, and last year at this time the price was 55c per bushel, or a difference of 13 cents.

This year the crop was so much greater than last that the price has not been as high, and many of the farmers have cribbed their corn to await an expected advance in the price, although some grain dealers are somewhat skeptical about the price making any material advance in the near future.

Only a small portion of the crop in the county has been placed upon the market, it is said, while a great many farmers are feeding it to hogs and cattle, and in that manner receiving top prices for the grain.

Annual Banquet First Baptist Church

The men of the First Baptist church entertained all the members at the annual business meeting and banquet of the church, held in the Pythian castle.

Not in church annals has there been an affair of more spontaneous pleasure as well as an eminently satisfactory business conclave.

The beautiful castle furnished an artistic setting which in itself contributed no small share, and sociability was the keynote which pulsed through the entire assembly. There were two hundred in attendance and each guest carried away the remembrance of a splendid good time, in which the men certainly made a new record as royal entertainers.

The banquet hall presented a radiant scene, with three long tables, beautifully adorned with shell pink carnations and fern.

The young girls seated the guests and the young men served a delicious hot turkey supper in charge of the managing committee, Messrs. Wm. Fogle, Sherman Bishop, Howard McLean, Joe Jones.

Rev. West presided during the annual business meeting in connection with the banquet.

Reports made by the various officers showed a very satisfactory church year and were received with enthusiasm.

The annual election resulted as follows:

Financial secretary, Mr. Howard McLean; treasurer, Mr. Wm. Fogle; trustee, John Godfrey; clerk, Miss Clara Conn; Sunday school superintendent, Mr. J. Howard Hicks.

Angry Frenchmen Will Fight Duel

Boy Sentenced To Reform School

Carl Mann was sentenced by Judge Patton to an indeterminate term in the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster, Friday morning, and the lad will be taken to that place at once to commence his time.

The boy entered a plea of guilty to burglary. In ridding the city of him the police expect less trouble among the smaller boys, as the lad was usually the ring leader in the trouble.

THE RIVER'S BIG SPREE.

The rain which has fallen steadily Wednesday, Thursday and Friday came as a blessing to this section of the state. It means that the streams will continue to flow through towns and meadows, filled to the brim, and the water flushing the whole section of those accumulations of a hot summer which mean, if allowed to remain, sickness and suffering.

The generous gentle rains mean to this section a thorough soaking of the soil, filling the underground streams and underground reservoirs with the supply which is to last through next season's dry spell. It means to this section better wheat, better grass, better trees and better everything that grows out of the earth for the benefit of man. It means, in short, prosperity and health to this section.

Down on the banks of the great river Ohio, however, rushing on to unite with the Mississippi and thence on to the sea, these rains mean hours and days of suffering and anguish for the Ohio is on one of its annual sprees, is out of all bounds, flooding lowlands in country and city districts from Pittsburg to its mouth at Cairo. The bank full, creeks and rivers of the up-state sections which means so much of good to the sections they traverse, pour their waters into the great silent river in too great a volume and in too limited a time to be handled in the natural channels.

In that great fertile section along the Ohio river, crops are ruined, buildings are either washed away entirely or rendered unfit for habitation for months to come.

Time was and not long since either, when these great floods in the Ohio valley were not of frequent occurrence but of late years, owing to the clearing away of the timber and the building of vast stretches of tile ditches, they have become an annual disaster.

The property loss sustained by those who live in the lowlands of the cities is each year enormous. Enough, in fact, to pay for a home higher up.

The annual scourge of the great river has become so certain that the lowlands are being gradually surrendered by men as residence or shop districts, and given over to the angry muddy waters of the river.

The great flood of 1884 still holds the record and each succeeding annual flood pouring in from the hills and mountains of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky from the southern part of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, down the Allegheny, Monongahela, Kanawha, Big Sandy, Muskingum, Scioto, Miami and other tributaries, the great walls of water come, threatening to surpass the high mark set in 1884, but for nearly thirty years now that grim mark, which older residents will point out to you with a "here is where she was in '84" observation remains unequalled.

In every city and town along the river's bank visitors will be shown where the muddy finger of the river wrote its record in '84 and no flood since has come within several feet of equaling that grim mark of the biggest "high old time" the usually peaceful river ever indulged in so far as records go.

LESSON OF A DISGRACE.

The disgrace of Judge Archibald of the Federal courts is complete and should satisfy even his most bitter enemies and the staunchest stickler for judicial purity.

Found guilty by the Senate of the nation of the ugly charges preferred against him, stripped of his robes of office, the honors of his high position ruthlessly torn from him, denied even the right to practice his profession in the courts he has disgraced, Judge Archibald though fully meriting all the punishment inflicted upon him, presents a sad spectacle—a distressing picture of a man who stepped aside from the path of duty and honesty, suffering the agonies of his disgrace.

Punishment came swiftly and certainly to the accused jurist and furnishes a very strong argument indeed to those who oppose the recall of judicial officers.

The Archibald case, it is claimed, with much force too, is conclusive in support of the argument that the present machinery for the removal of dishonest or incompetent judicial officers is amply sufficient. Judge Archibald was guilty of wrong doing in his official position and he was punished severely and punished quickly under present laws.

There is no need, it is claimed, is the lesson taught by the Archibald case to increase the facilities for the removal of judges. The Archibald case is a strong argument in favor of that view.

In the language of the urchin, "Wot they done to him was plenty."

Is it advisable to visit the same penalty, barring the disgrace, upon a judge whose opinion does not meet with public approval. That's the serious question about which men have differed and argued and which only a trial it seems will answer finally.

Poetry For Today

THE IRON HORSE.

Behold a steed with thwos of iron,
 A heart and brain of fire;
 His voice a thousand trumpets
 shames,
 His sinews never tire.

Of body dark, gigantic, vast,
 His way no arm can bar;
 Resistless as the battle gods,
 His flight is like a star.

His path, twin bands of virgin steel,
 That stretch from east to west;
 O'er beams the invaded forest gave,
 Now fixed in nature's breast.

He speeds where storm or avalanche
 Have torn the mountainside;
 Or through the peaceful valley,
 where
 The evening shadows hide.

Here husbandman the furrow turns,
 Or reaps the golden grain
 That ripens with the kiss of sun,
 Or bows beneath the rain.

There troutlets, undiscovered, leap,
 In babbling wayside brooks;
 And briar and honeysuckle bloom
 In unsuspected nooks.

Here pygmy hands and hearts of flame
 Have pierced the mountain base;
 There rock and steel are intertwined,
 To bridge the chasm's space.

For men have planned, have delved
 and wrought,
 Have struggled night and day
 To blaze a trail from coast to coast,
 And build his great highway.

Commissioner Cabell Alleges Whisky Frauds in North Carolina.

Washington, Jan. 17.—A sensational report by Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue, to Secretary MacVeagh, teeming with caustic criticism of alleged whisky frauds in North Carolina and of the course of the federal court presided over by District Judge Boyd of Greensboro, N. C., in dealing with the conditions, was made public here by the house committee on expenditures in the treasury department, which has undertaken an investigation of the situation. The commissioner declares that Judge Boyd has issued a total of three injunctions to restrain the government from seizing and selling the whisky for taxes.

MAN'S DEBT TO THE HORSE.

A Docile, Willing, and Useful Servant for Ages.

Of all dumb brutes the horse is the one which most deserves the gratitude of man. It has been his docile and willing servant for ages. It has helped him to conquer the reluctant earth. It has eased and aided him in the dull business of getting a living. It has played a greater part in human progress than many a race of men.

Until man had made the horse his servant and ally, the thing that we now know as civilization was 'out of his reach. The mere labor of getting his daily bread consumed all of his energies. But when the first plow-horse threw its weight forward a new era dawned for humanity. Thereafter man began to have leisure to plan and dream. Life became to him less a matter of muscle and more a matter of mind. It was then that progress really began.

The horse appeals very little to the theatrical sense. It is a silent, patient, undemonstrative beast, with little of the humanlike emotionalism of the dog. It does not dash into raging torrents to save its master's life; it is not a destroyer of burglars and kidnappers; it does not cuddle down on hearth rugs. One rarely loves a horse, perhaps, as one sometimes loves a dog. But in those drab but invaluable virtues which distinguish the honest friend and true comrade, willing to take his share of labor in the heat of the day, the horse is without a peer.

The day of the horse, say the prophets, is well nigh done. In another generation or two he will give way to soulless machines. We two-legged mortals will eat him, perhaps, or watch him race around a track, but we will no longer need him in our endless battle with the pitiless earth. So be it! Let him go—but let us not forget him. Time was when there were no devil wagons or gasoline engines, no locomotive or steam thrashers, and in that time man and the horse, laboring valiantly side by side, conquered continents and made the waste places bloom.

Keeping Its Fishers at Home.

The bread which Indiana scattered on the waters has begun to return to her. More than five years ago the state fish and game commission began systematically to stock the lakes and streams of that state with fish. Utilizing the many lakes in its northern part as breeding grounds, the commission succeeded in securing several million fish of desirable quality. These were then distributed about the various water courses and lakes of the state.

As a result it is now estimated that about $3,000,000 is annually spent in Indiana by outsiders who go there to fish. It is quite likely that as much more is spent there by Indians who previously went elsewhere for their sport. The cost of stocking the lakes was comparatively small. The handsome returns show that the money was well expended.—Chicago Tribune.

UMPIRE'S PARADISE.

Fred Merrifield, a former University of Chicago baseball star, who is teaching school in Japan, booms the Island Empire as a safe resort for umpires in an article written for the University of Chicago magazine. Merrifield says he had umpired games for three years in Japan, and the worst "kick" he ever received was a polite and mild protest. Merrifield says baseball is one of the best influences in the life of the young Japanese.

Next Thing.

The shades of night were falling. Swiftly and gracefully an aeroplane descended, landing as lightly as a feather on the smooth roadway of the boulevard.

Forth stepped an elegantly attired man, wearing a mask.

Snatching a purse from a richly appareled dame who was passing, he stepped back into the aeroplane and was soaring aloft and disappearing in the distance before it occurred to the astonished victim to let loose a scream.

Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Clem S. Baxter, in a statement at Lima, said he had nothing to worry about in connection with the discrepancy of $3,000 discovered in the cash account of the Columbus Savings and Trust company, which failed Feb. 26, 1912. The shortage only recently came to light. Clem S. Baxter is a brother of F. E. Baxter, state superintendent of banking, and assisted in examining the trust company's books. The shortage was discovered between the time the bank tellers checked up and the time when state examiners finished their work on the night following the failure.

Allege Graft at Penitentiary.
Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—With a view of eliminating what they term "graft" in connection with efforts of attorneys to secure pardons for prisoners at the penitentiary, Major Walter Collins of the Volunteers' Prison League and Councilman Louis A. Alcott held a conference with Governor Cox. The conference is the direct result of the incident at the penitentiary when Chaplain Frank Richards and Mrs. Elizabeth Jeanette Cooper came to blows in the guard room.

Rap Homeseekers' Excursions.
Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Homeseekers' rates were given a black eye by resolutions adopted by the state board of agriculture as follows: "We favor the cancellation of homeseekers' rates and the discouragement of all land-promoting schemes that tend to lure Ohio farmers away from the Buckeye state to lands where the bubbles of supposed prosperity and profit too often burst."

Representative Injured.
Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Dr. H. N. Donaldson, Sandusky county representative in the house, is laid up at his home in Fremont with severe injuries sustained when he fell from a High street car at the Union station here. Boy Horsethief Captured.
Van West, O., Jan. 17.—The career of crime of Frederick Martz, 15, son of William Martz of Redwood, Ind., who since last Saturday has stolen four horses, came to an end when he was caught near Fostoria. At the time he was arrested he was driving a horse which he had stolen at Van Wert. He will be taken to Ottawa to answer to a charge of horsestealing.

Proclaims Arbor Day.
Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Governor Cox proclaimed April 4 Arbor day. Does Not Agree With The Views Expressed In The Herald Editorial

James M. Hartman, Superintendent of Union Township Schools Has a Few Words to Say in Defense of the Rural School.

James M. Hartman, superintendent of the Union township schools does not agree with the views expressed in an editorial appearing in The Herald a few weeks ago.

Mr. Hartman has reduced his opinions to writing and The Herald is pleased to publish his side of the case. It is only by an interchange of views and the threshing out of honest differences that progress is made.

Mr. Hartman says:

Under the heading, "It Might Work Well," there appeared an editorial in the Herald some days ago discussing the rural school question, and we think an injustice was done to our rural schools. Of course, we admit, whether right or wrong, that the problem of today (of Edward Bok and other city editors) is to check the drifting of the rural population toward the cities. You do not find the farmers worrying over this question. When I speak of farmers, I mean those who live on the farm, whose entire interests are with the farm, not those who for one reason or another have moved to town and rented their farms at such a price that the tenants have to leave the farms and take their families into the cities where they can have a chance to at least make a decent living. In the above mentioned article the writer claims three causes for this drifting to the city, viz: educational, social and business advantages, and then says that the social and business advantages have been answered and lays all the blame on the rural schools. To this one proposition I will confine this article.

The writer gives the "little red school house" credit with producing so many big men in every field in the last century and remains practically the same. We believe that, and more over, we believe they have made some advances far ahead of your boasted city schools. We believe that if a test were made in any business in any line you would find that country lad holding his own with his more fortunate city cousin educated in a $200,000 school building with a $3000 superintendent and all the advantages of a good football team, basketball, dancing master and gymnastic teacher. The main trouble with the country schools has been that the farmer has let the city man take the control of the rural schools out of his hands. Let us look at some of the laws made for the country schools by the cities.

Boxwell law, which takes our best pupils away from our country schools (drifting toward city) at the age when they could do the most good, or if they do not go to High school it makes them believe they have learned all they can in the country and do not go to school any more. I make this statement from facts as we have in our own township more than a dozen who have passed the Boxwell law and could not go to High School and never attended our schools afterward, although we admit them if they wish to continue.

Centralization made for the towns because all centralized schools are located in or near some town—Drifting which way?

The law appointing four Supervisors of Agriculture at an expense of $12,000 per year, was not sanctioned by the real farmers nor rural teachers, as we can testify in this county. Our Supervisor has spent two days in two years in Fayette county. I think Jimmie Cox should have some other supervisor law made. Supervisors of stores, groceries and newspapers. Statistics tell us that 90 per cent of all business men fail. Why not some more supervision? At Columbus during the holidays the five different teachers' associations had meetings and of the five, four of them stood for County Supervision, (more drifting), the only one favoring it was the Township Superintendents' Association, who were nearer the farmer and the ones most interested, and my prediction is that you will have to enlarge your court house and make room for another county office, County Superintendent of Schools.

The college men want it, (the job) the city men want it. Put Sandles wants it, so we will get it. The farmers are not asking for it, but they will have the bills to pay.

The writer says farther—the city schools have more resources and have outstripped the country schools. Let us compare—city heavily bonded, taxed to the limit, teachers, (elementary), pay $40 to $50 per month. Country, no bonds, not taxed to the limit, (and don't get what is levied because of another unfair law, the Budget Commission, made up of city men), teachers pay $50 to $60 per month. Why is this?

Another statement—"The teachers still board around as they did in the yesterday that has passed." Shades of Ralph Hartsook, the writer must have found an ancient volume—The Hoosier Schoolmaster. Our country teachers do not board around, unless you call boarding at the Manhattan and Cherry boarding around. Some pay as much as $5 per week board and have all conveniences. Again Salaries are too small to attract the best teachers. Why would a smaller salary attract to city schools? We admit that salaries are not as large as some other occupations—Editors or County Officers, for instance, but they are as teachers paid as well or better than city teachers of the same class. Of the 16 teachers in our township 13 have an average of 7-years teachers and 3 are beginners. They are not complaining; some city highbrow may be for them.

Why is it that when the city pupil graduates in Latin, German, Basket Ball, Etc., wants to find something to do, he lights on a country school to teach? Has their schooling been along the lines to fit them for teaching in the country? No, but they are forced on us, I am sorry to say, by the lack of country trained teachers and other means not always of the best. The rural school suffers for it. Now listen to this. It is not suggested as a means or relieving against the hard conditions that in addition to the salary the use of a small piece of ground be given the teacher. Some more ancient reading; you will find this in Dickens' Old Curiosity Shop. Great scheme, that.

Is it sound good to you? A poor-farm pauper. We guess not. That comes from the same source—the city. Now we suggest that the city man busy himself with city affairs and let the real country man work out this school question—centralize when possible. Township supervision and the elimination of the local sub-district when favorites are pushed for places in schools.

There is not a township in this county at least, but what could raise more money even under the present tax, if needed. Let the country boy or girl go to the country schools until he is able to teach, if he wants to. They would be better qualified to teach in the country than if they were educated in town schools. You cannot make all schools alike, no more than you can teach all children alike.

We could give examples galore where country pupils surpassed high school pupils, but will give just one. Down in the southern part of this county, they had an old fashioned spelling bee and cyphering match one night not long since. A country school lad won over two village High Schools and a much boasted of Centralized school. Score one more.

The country schools have been slow to take up with fads in teaching such as Vertical Writing, etc., and time has proven they were right. There are problems in the country schools. The small school, tenure of office, overloaded course of study, but let the solution of these come from the farmers, not from those who know nothing of conditions and want only to profit by a law made to control the country school. Let the farmer keep his children strictly in the country and learn country at school and at home and more would be done towards stopping the drifting to the city than has or will be by passing laws.

We ask in all fairness that before you condemn the rural schools you investigate and see if it is not the other fellow needs condemning.

Yours for the best for country schools.

Passenger Boat In Distress And Peril

STEAMER ON ROCKS

Carries Four Hundred Persons and Tugs Unable to Reach Her.

Oporto, Jan. 17.—The British steamship Veronese, with 375 passengers, mostly third-class emigrants for South America, was driven on the rocks at Boanova, seven miles north of here, during a severe gale. Her position is said to be extremely dangerous. Attempts were made to rescue her passengers but tugs were unable to reach her. The seas are breaking over the boat on the dangerous coast and some vessels which made efforts to reach the distressed ship were smashed on the rocks. The latest report is that she will probably be lost.

of Belfast 1,000 more would be ready to take their places, and the responsibility of the shooting would be on the government.

Chief Secretary Birrell criticised Bonar Law for attempting to belittle and almost denying the existence of the Nationalist movement which for years had been the soul of Ireland. He did not deny that the Ulstermen disliked the proposed idea of an Irish parliament. He even admitted that if the Unionist fears of oppression were verified, that the Ulstermen would be justified in offering resistance, but he asked how could the present mode of government continue indefinitely. Nobody except Englishmen, he declared, would tolerate the ridiculous state of things.

The division on the third and final reading resulted in a vote of 367 to 257 in favor of the passage of the bill. The announcement of this vote was received with cheers.

The majority in the commons consisted of 248 Liberals, 82 Irish Nationalists and 37 Laborites. Two Liberals opposed the bill.

KNIFE OPENS BOTTLES.

Has Hook That Is Inserted Under Top and Pries It Off.

A knife that can be used to take the patent tops off beer and soft drink bottles has been invented by a New Jersey man. It saves the necessity of having a separate device for that purpose attached to the key ring. The knife has a semi-circular recess in the handle near the end where the point of the blade sinks. At the outer end of this recess is a little hook. To remove one of the crimped metal tops from a bottle the hook is inserted under the edge and the handle of the knife rests on the top, acting as a fulcrum. In this way the top is easily pried off. This knife also takes the place of the little wire devices that are so often used for opening bottles, and as there are more kinds of bottles than beer bottles equipped with this troublesome metal top, a white ribbon need not be afraid that his carrying of such an implement will lay him open to suspicion. Of course, such a knife cannot have more than two blades, as they can open only from one side of the handle and not from the side where the hook is.

To Grip the Rain.

In a time of distressing drought a harassed amateur agriculturist stepped into a shop to buy a barometer. The shopman was giving a few stereotyped instructions about indications and pressures, when the purchaser impatiently interrupted him. "Yes, yes," said he, "that's all right, but what I want to know is, how do you set the thing when you want it to rain."—Yorkshire Post.

Objects to Clay.

President Roosevelt is emphatic in his refusals to have a life mask made. The President has no especial objection to being preserved otherwise; he sits for his photo at reasonably short intervals, and has given sittings for the preservation of his likeness in oil. Suicide of Animals.

The supposed suicide of animals raises a subtle problem, and to deny it is to fly in the face of deep rooted popular belief. It is just as much a natural history myth, however, as the hoary headed belief in the adder swallowing its young in time of peril, the toad living in a stone nodule for thousands of years, or the germinating powers of mummy wheat. The most ancient fable de se verdict of the myth mongers relates to the habit of scorpions digging their stings into their heads when unable to escape from fire.

Experiments have proved the fallacy of the scorpion's suicide, notably those carried out some years ago by Dr. E. Ray Lankester, director of the natural history department of the British Museum, and Professor Bourne of Madras. Scorpions were confined in an extremely hot place from which escape was impossible, and their frantic gymnastics were carefully studied with serene and philosophic complacency. As in the case of the tortured rattlesnake biting its own body, the action of the scorpion in an apparent attempt to put an end to its sufferings by stinging its head was purely muscular, and Dr. Lankester himself compared the action to the biting and dust attributing to men who die in hand to hand struggles, or to the biting of their own hand or arm by unhealthy children in a paroxysm of anger.

That animals bring about their own deaths by violent and abnormal actions is certain, but if all the contributory causes could be ascertained it would probably be found that they did so under the pressure of some torturing pain producing hysterical madness.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Undoubtedly Not.

Capt. Jerome, while visiting Col. Higginson, took a derring from the table, and asked: "This thing loaded?" But before the colonel could reply the weapon was discharged, the bullet tearing away one of the fingers of the visitor. The colonel, who is widely known on account of his extreme politeness, bowed gracefully, and rejoined: "Not now, my dear captain."
